

Kevin O'Brien

August 4, 2016 at 1:24 pm

Thanks Mike, your perception of the blog post is entirely up to you, but as I said it was not aimed at orthotropics.

As I have said to you many times, I am not interested in a debate, as this will not lead to anything and will be a waste of our time. But I am interested in research and I would happily devote a large amount of time to this. But I cannot work with people who work closely together in the School of orthotropics, when one of the two staff are threatening to report me to the GDC. This does not bode well for co-operation. I have looked at the cases that you sent me and I was going to reply to you with my opinion in detail, but the GDC issue has prevented me.

Reply